

Keys to Success with Product Management

- Product management responsibilities should be focused on product strategy and new product development processes.
- Recruit and empower product management and professionals who can concurrently execute at strategic and tactical levels.
- Apply portfolio management to innovation management and NPD for timely product launches and creating profitable growth and extended lifecycle.
- Develop different types of roadmaps to communicate where the business, technology and platform/product are going.
- Implement and iterate a formal requirements management process with proper software.
- Do not launch new product without early adopter and beta programs.
- Product management's most critical role is to plan, coordinate, and manage successful product launches.
